Indie Game Website

Overview - Indie Game website

The objective of our application is to give indie fanatics, indie gamers and indie developers a location to discuss, comment and review indie games.

Indie fanatics will be able quench their thirst for playing new indie games by being able to explore a large collection of indie games they may have never even heard of.

Indie Gamers can use the website to provide valuable reviews and comments regarding their game experience playing specific indie games.

Indie Developers will be able to gather feedback and reviews regarding the games they have developed.

User Persona -1

Kim is 38 years old and despite her age she is avid indie gamer. Indie games are the only games she plays and she is constantly on the lookout for other indie games she can pursue playing. At the present she relies on googling for finding indie games she would like to play, but this is very time consuming and difficult which results in Kim being frustrated that there is not a website which solely focuses on indie games.

User Persona -2

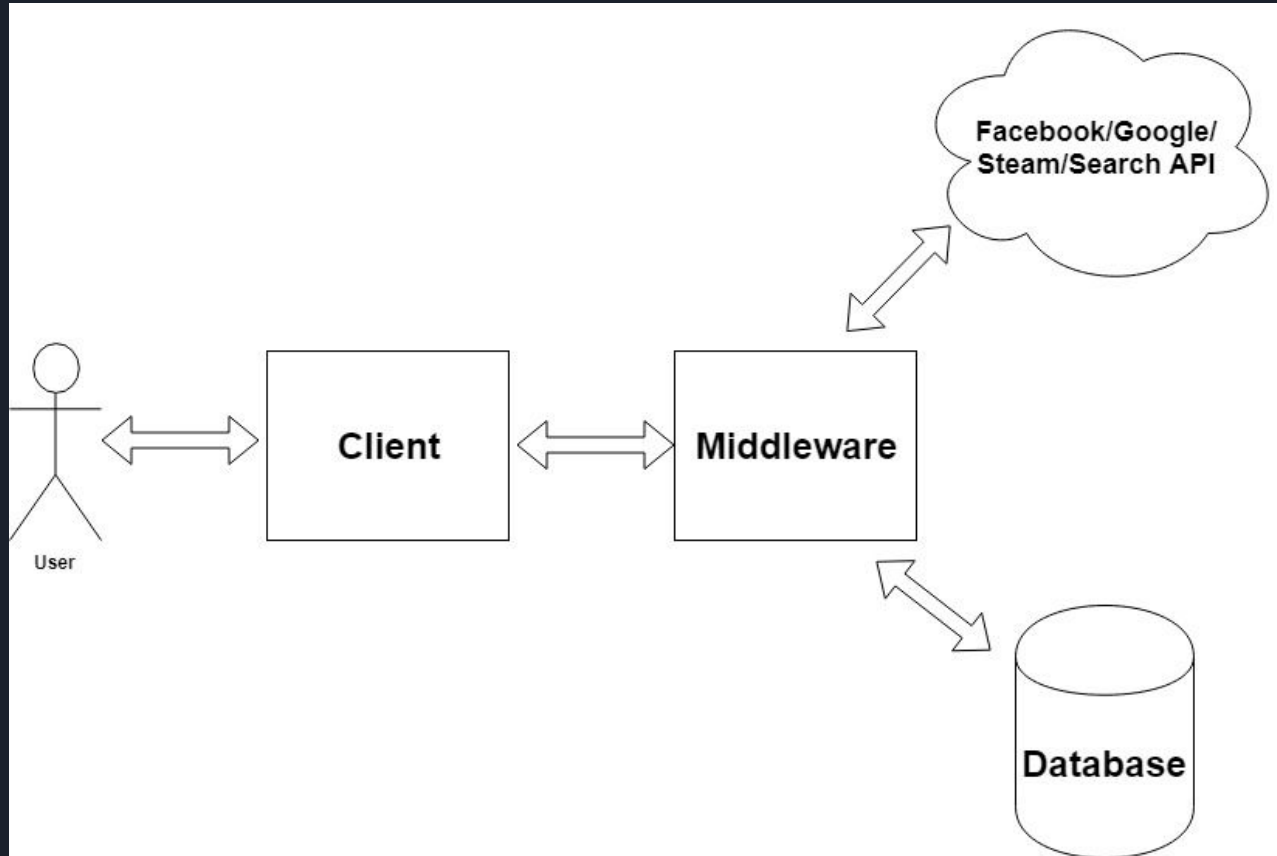

Kevin is a 22 year old student from France. He is a casual gamer who plays various types of video games. After completing a video game, he enjoys posting a review of it online. Unfortunately, while there are many websites dedicated for users to review the big brand games, Kevin is unable to find a website which features indie games. He played a few indie games and really enjoyed it and wished there was a way to review them online.

User Persona - 3

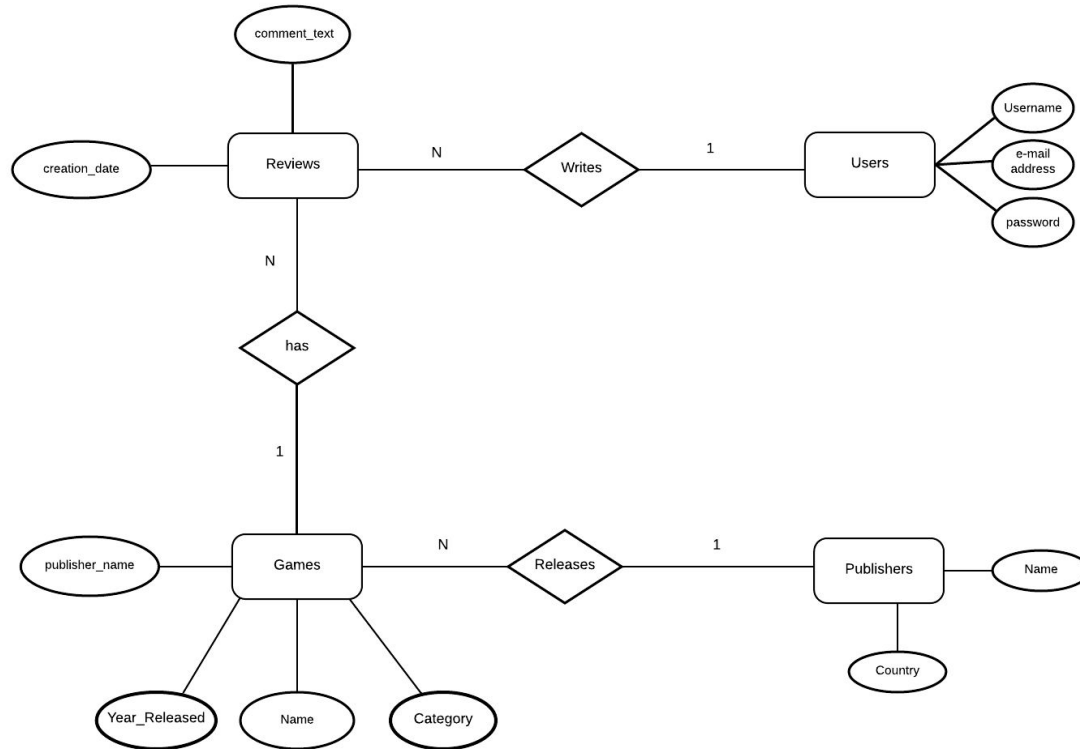

Edmund is 23 years old and an aspiring indie game developer. He just developed an indie game and would like to know what people think about the game. Sadly, Edmund's indie game will not be featured on a gaming-review website. Currently, gaming-review websites do not feature indie games, hence Edmund wished there was a website which would feature indie game reviews.
